DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-33 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as unpatentable over Kolling(US Pat. No: 5,920,847) in view of Bartoli(US Pat. No: 6,047,268).
4. As per claims 1-33, Kolling teaches a method of electronically presenting billing information(Abstract)(Figs 6-19) comprising billing information receiving billing information from first and second payors(Fig 4). Kolling also teaches invoice presentation to clients(Fig 7) as well as payment information for a plurality of clients to a plurality of billers(Fig 14) as well as portions of the billing information associated with different billers(Fig 5). Bartoli teaches processing billing transactions over the Internet(Abstract)(Fig 1/102). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to combine Kolling in view of Bartoli to teach the applicant's invention. The motivation to combine is to teach an electronic billing system that may be utilized on the internet for e-commerce transactions and that provides interactions between the user, merchant and provider as enunciated by Bartoli(col 2 lines 19-24).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 1-33 are further rejected under 35 USC 112(2nd) for failing to point out and particularly claim what applicant regards is the invention. In particular, the claims must be narrowed to precisely define the novel features in the disclosure to ascertain distinction over the prior art.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

-Neely teaches an electronic invoicing and payment system

-Gifford teaches an open network payment and billing system
